Nanjing Institute of Technology 2026 Postgraduate Program Admission Prospectus for International Students (English-Instructed)

Nanjing Institute of Technology (NJIT) is a general university administered directly by Jiangsu Province with centurial history, deep engineering foundation, and distinct characteristics of application-oriented specialties. Serve as a directorial unit of China's National Special Committee for Applied Undergraduate Colleges and Universities and a vice presidential unit of the National Development Alliance for Applied Graduate Education Universities, NJIT stands among the first pilot universities to enter the "Program for Educating and Training Excellent Engineers" and the "CDIO Engineering Education Reform Program". Associated with the national pilot zone for innovative models in cultivating electromechanical control talents, NJIT is a national model for the collaborative development of enterprises, universities and research institutions, as well as the typical university experienced in promoting graduate employment of nationwide reputation.

Located in the Fangshan Scenic Area of Jiangning District of Nanjing, an ancient and modern city, NJIT boasts a total area of nearly 200 hectares, with a total construction area exceeding 80 hectares, and offers a set of superior facilities for education and teaching activities. Currently, we have 21 educational and teaching departments and over 27,000 full-time students, approximately 1,500 of whom are engaged in postgraduate studies. These students are supported by over 2,100 faculty members, of which 64% are full-time teachers holding doctorate degrees, 54% have senior professional titles. The university boasts a high-caliber faculty of 310 high-level talents at or above the provincial level, including recipients of the National Science Fund for Distinguished Young Scholars, experts enjoying Special Government Allowances of the State Council, members selected for the Young Talent Support Program of the China Association for Science and Technology, Distinguished Professors of Jiangsu Province, and Famous Teachers of Higher Education in Jiangsu Province. It is also home to 16 high-level talent teams, such as the innovative teams of the "Six Talent Peaks" Program of Jiangsu Province, the Scientific and Technological Innovation Teams of Colleges and Universities in Jiangsu Province, and the Outstanding Teaching Teams of the "Qinglan Project" in Jiangsu Province.
